NOW AVAILABLE

THE AMERICA THEMED COLLECTION

DESIGNED TO INSPIRE.

Take shoppers on a thematic journey down memory lane! We're disrupting traditional spinner merchandising by grouping designs by theme within the Birthday category. A fresh take based on the interests of the recipient helps shoppers find the right card(s) faster! The new AMERICA program display features three sides of themed Birthday cards plus occasions on the fourth side.

- Eye-catching signage signals shoppers that there's something new
- Eleven unique themes provided: All in a Day's Work, Amazing Adventures, Car Buffs, Cheers, Fun in the Sun, Great Minds, Making History, Great Outdoors, Music Makers, Sports, and Style & Attitude
- Each theme has 3, 6 or 9 designs

NEW DISPLAY ORDER

The standard new 84-pocket AMERICA spinner will ship with the new themed POG. You will receive 2 AMERICA logo signs and 2 HISTORY ON THE BACK signs (84AMNDKIT) to the apply to the side panels of the display, as well as 3 Birthday, 1 Occasion category signs and the themed header strips (84AMTHMKIT.) The display (DISP84ALL) will ship separately from our manufacturer in Massachusetts. In addition to the new Themed Collection, Reps can request a POG of the top 84 designs.

REORDERING

To protect the integrity of the new themed POG, Avanti's updated programing will replace designs by themes. To make design changes, select 6C and the next best-selling design in the assigned theme will ship.

A New Way to Display AMERICA

Actual assortment may be adjusted through the year as new cards are introduced.

HORSEPOWER

Joplin, Missouri • 1962

University of Missouri co-ed Jane Marston just happened to have her camera on hand when she spotted this "mane attraction" at a local gas station. What do you think the horse was thinking, as his owner Ray Nickols hitched him to the front bumper of a 1956 Ford Fairlane to help his pal Jim Cox fix the car. Speaking of horses...the term "horsepower" was invented by engineer James Watt in the early 1780s to convince farmers that his steam engine could do the work of many horses. Not long after automobiles arrived at the turn of the 20th century, they replaced horses as the preferred form of transportation, and by 1920, experts in the U.S. announced that cars had finally outnumbered horses and buggies on the roads.

ON FILE

Cambridge, Massachusetts • January 5, 1953

An employee at Harvard searches for a file as part of a LIFE magazine article on the university's Advanced Management Program. This scene was captured by world-renowned photographer Gordon Parks, a prolific visual storyteller who documented everything from the American farmer to the civil rights movement to the world of fashion. Launched in 1945 for the Graduate School of Business Administration, this innovative management program provides high-level professional training for company executives as well as military veterans from all over the country. In this image we also see one of the greatest early inventions of an efficiently run business: the vertical filing cabinet system, which since 1898 transformed the way we store and retrieve information.

GREAT MINDS

Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, New Jersey • 1947

Quietly contemplating a blackboard filled with a complex array of algebraic equations is mathematician Richard D. Shafer, PhD, one of the many "big brains" invited to pursue knowledge for its own sake at the Institute for Advanced Study (IAS). The Institute, just over a mile from Princeton University, was founded in 1930 and funded entirely by grants, endowments, and gifts. It has been the academic home for some of the world's greatest minds, including Albert Einstein and J. Robert Oppenheimer. There are no classes and no degrees—just a congenial environment that encourages intellectual inquiry and theoretical research in four separate schools: Historical Studies, Natural Sciences, Mathematics, and Social Sciences. Research at IAS has contributed to the development of modern computing and pioneering theories of space and time.
